

WE END THE CYCLE OF POVERTY

Too often, reform initiatives try to tackle complex social problems, such as poverty, with narrowly-focused solutions. The problem with this approach is that the issues they are meant to address usually stretch far beyond the scope of the efforts. The comprehensive model that Build UP uses is like no other program in America. Its focus is to empower and equip youth so that they can overcome poverty and revitalize their communities, determining their own future.
