

Perspectives on Leadership Series

Mr. Toby Roth

Monday, September 12 | Ferg 3115 | 5:30-6:30pm

The monthly Perspectives on Leadership series introduces students at The University of Alabama to diverse points of view on leadership. Each month in the 2016-17 academic year, the Blackburn Institute will host a public lecture from a leader working to create a better Alabama. Guests will come from a variety of sectors and professional industries and share their experiences as leaders.

Mr. Roth has 18 years of leadership experience in Alabama government and political affairs. As an attorney and the former chief-of-staff for one of Alabama's most successful governors, businesses, associations and organizations look to Mr. Roth for insight and leadership on their Alabama advocacy efforts. He leads Capitol Resource's Alabama office, providing clients with a thorough understanding of the Alabama political and policy landscape, and effective relationships with policymakers. Mr. Roth is experienced in devising strategic action plans for clients, helping them achieve their short-term goals, while supporting their long-term objectives.

Free and Open to All UA Students

